2025/420 - Police Officers Based in Schools

In response to your recent request for information regarding;

1. The number of police officers, Police Community Support Officers (PCSOs), or other police staff currently assigned to work in or with schools within your force area.

- Please break this down by job title (e.g. Police Officer, PCSO, etc.) and by local authority area or school (if possible).
- If available, please also distinguish between those permanently based in schools (e.g. School Liaison Officers, Safer Schools Officers) and those who visit schools as part of outreach or other duties.

16 School Police Officers (SPOs) are assigned to all the schools in the NWP region.

2. A list of all schools (including school name and postcode) that currently have a designated police officer or PCSO assigned to them.

- If this would exceed the cost limit, please instead provide the total number of such schools, broken down by local authority or policing area.

421 – schools have a designated School Police Officer and see attached.

3. For each of the last three academic years (e.g. 2021–22, 2022–23, and 2023–24 to date), please provide the number of officers or PCSOs assigned to work in schools or with schools within your force area.

- Please include the same breakdowns as above if available.

We have remained at 16 over the last 3 years.

4. If your force has any specific policies, protocols, or agreements relating to officers in schools (e.g. Memoranda of Understanding with schools or local authorities), please provide copies of these documents.

- We have the attached PDF NWP School Service Protocol which is currently in Draft format and awaiting final sign off.
- Also attached is the Joint Working Agreement that all schools agree to (and sign) with their SPO at the beginning of every academic year in September.

Foreword

A Partnership between Schools and North Wales Police School Incident Management.

The following has been written to provide guidance of when Police Officers can be utilised by schools to deal with incidents which fall under the School Crime Beat Protocol Roles and responsibilities.

In the first instance school incidents will be dealt with by school staff in accordance with the school's policy and procedures.

- School Police Officers (SPOs) have a supportive policing element to their role when working with schools. It is the role of the SPO to work with schools after their policy and procedures have been exhausted to determine whether an incident within the school environment can be dealt with under the School Crime Beat Protocol.
- Using the SPOs too early in the school process desensitises their role and value to schools. It is therefore important that SPOs should not be written into school behavioural policies or utilised as an initial intervention strategy.
- Schools should not give the SPO's contact details to parents. Contact with the SPO should be arranged through the school.

The School Crime Beat Protocol can only be applied when the incident occurs on school property, when a teacher is present during the school's normal working hours and is not listed on the Serious Offences list.

General Rules \(publishing.service.gov.uk\)

Support for Professionals working with children and young people - Professionals Online Safety Helpline | SWGfL \(POSH\)

This Protocol covers incidents on school premises where children have potentially committed a crime. It provides guidance on what schools should bear in mind when considering contacting the police.

The intention of the Police is to protect and preserve the rights of young people in line with The Welsh Government strategy for Children's Rights and to implement the School Crime Beat Protocol wherever possible.

The advice does not cover safeguarding incidents. Where a child is suffering, or is likely to suffer from harm, it is important that a referral is made to the Local Children's Services immediately. Referrals should follow the local referral pathway.

This Protocol does not apply to adults, so those adults working in schools can report any instances of criminal activity they experience to the Police in the usual way. All other non-emergency incidents should be reported using the 101 or online reporting methods and schools may also seek advice from their dedicated School Police Officer (SPO). There should be little deviation from the School Crime Beat Protocol when Police Officers are involved in an incident involving school-aged children on school premises.

When referring to this document School Staff should consider Welsh Government and Local Education Authority policies and guidance. At all times, the Police will have children and young people's interests at the forefront of their considerations and will work in partnership with the school's policies and procedures.

Police Roles and Responsibilities

Within communities, Police Officers undertake several different roles to provide an effective policing service for schools. Below is a list of the main types of officers that schools are likely to have contact with:

Schools Police Officers: These Officers are dedicated to deliver the North Wales Police Schools Service and provide supportive policing services in schools. They are deployed to ensure that a uniform, structured and professional programme is delivered to all children and young people in the region. Each Officer is responsible for up to four secondary schools and their respective partner primary schools in any one area.

Neighbourhood Policing and Prevention Teams comprising of a Policing Sergeant, Police Officers and Community Support Officers: These Officers are responsible for policing their identified neighbourhoods and communities, problem solving and targeting their activity to the needs of that community. An officer should be familiar to the school if it falls within their area. The Neighbourhood Policing and Prevention Team will liaise closely with the relevant Schools Police Officer. They will provide a problem-orientated policing approach to the needs of the community and work closely with other key partners within that community.

Response Police Officers: These Officers will respond to emergency and non-emergency calls when they are received. If one of these Officers responds to an incident in the school, then they will carry out the required course of action dependent on the incident. They will liaise with the school and the Neighbourhood Policing Team to agree on how the incident will be finalised.

Specialist Child Abuse Investigation Officers or Detective Constables

If a Police officer receives any information that a child or vulnerable person is at risk of harm, and this information they will submit a Public Protection Notice (PPN). This is to comply with a statutory duty under Section 130 of the Social Services and Wellbeing Wales Act 2014. This can include where a child has seen, heard or otherwise experienced the effects of domestic abuse.

When a child protection concern is raised, Police will work in partnership with other agencies, such as social services and health. Any PPN submitted by Police or other agency will be triaged by specialist risk assessors. They will process the form to ensure the necessary course of action to protect the child or vulnerable person. This could be sharing the information with other agencies for example or deciding to jointly investigate any criminal allegations with children's services under section 47 of the Children's Act 1989.

These investigations will be conducted by Specialist Child Abuse Investigation Officers within Criminal Investigation Department (CID). They will normally need to speak to the child jointly with a social worker, and these visits may take place at the school. If the alleged perpetrator is a parent or carer, these visits may take place without their awareness. The investigating officer may also need information from the school in relation to the child as part of their enquiries.

When Officers attend a domestic abuse incident, they fill in a Domestic Abuse, Stalking and Harassment Risk Identification Checklist (DASH). If there are children present at the address, or normally resident with the parties involved in the incident, Officers will note their details on the DASH. As soon as these are submitted, a notification of the domestic incident is sent to the local education authority under 'Op Encompass', and basic details are passed on to the child's school so that they can provide the necessary support. The Domestic Abuse Act 2021 recognises the devastating impact that domestic abuse can have on children who experience its effects in their own home, and it is important to recognise this.

Schools are encouraged to openly discuss and seek advice from their dedicated Schools Police Officer. These officers will have a good knowledge of and be able to provide a direct link to other specialist Police departments where necessary.

Police Response to Incidents in Schools

- Once a call is received into the Force Control Centre the standard operating procedure will apply.
- Upon initial attendance a crime should not be formally recorded, all incidents should be discussed with the head teacher as soon as practicable. The Police will follow the parents/carers and school's wishes and work within school policy.
- If the incident is deemed a serious crime/offence, then police officers are duty bound to report and record. Home Office Counting Rules for Recorded Crime \(publishing.service.gov.uk\)
- If an incident that occurred inside school (during school hours), is reported to the Police by parents (out-of-school hours) then the incident should be dealt with in accordance with this Protocol, and the school must be informed of the outcome.
- The arrest of a child or young person will always be the last resort and when no other viable option is available. In all cases the Police will attempt to reach a mutual agreement with the school.
- The officer in charge should apply a restorative justice approach where and when appropriate.
- In the case of non-emergencies, or if there is a need to request advice, schools may wish to contact the SPO. The SPO will provide advice, deal with the matter or arrange other Police attendance if necessary. (more serious offences will not be investigated by the SPO)
- If the incident is not urgent but police are required to attend at the school, then schools should report via their Schools Police Officer or the 101 service.
- Schools act in loco parentis when learners are at school or involved in school-led activities, and may wish to deal with some incidents internally, rather than involve the Police. In these cases, the school is still asked to inform the SPO of the details for information purposes. The SPO may also be able to contribute by providing other information, which may impact on the school's decision. All crimes will be recorded by SPO's in line with the standards set out within this Protocol.

The definition of a crime is:

A crime is committed if a person fails to act in accordance with the Law.

When the decision is made to report an incident to the police for investigation, the school should cease their own investigation, having asked only enough questions to establish the basic facts of the incident.

Every effort should be made by the school to preserve any relevant evidence.

Initial enquiries undertaken by the school should be documented as they may be required later. This includes recording questions asked to young people and their replies.

Whilst the age of criminal responsibility is ten, if the child is under ten, it may still be necessary to involve the police. The police will take a safeguarding approach in these cases rather than a criminal justice approach.

When deciding whether to contact the Police regarding an incident on school premises, the severity of the incident needs to be considered. Therefore, the seriousness of an incident can be determined by considering the answers to the following questions.

IN ALL CASES

If the Head Teacher or authorised person considers the answer as YES to any of the questions below, then they should call 999 to obtain Police presence.

- Is there any serious immediate danger present?
- Has serious injury occurred or is there a clear potential for serious injury?
- Is a crime in progress or imminent?
- Is a suspect present?
- Will a witness be lost if Police do not arrive quickly?
- Is there clear potential for a further crime to be committed?
- Is a victim of crime suffering from extreme distress?

Not reporting a crime and thereby not identifying the offender, if known or suspected, may subsequently prove to be counter-productive for a school and the wider community.

Formal Recording and the Investigation of Crimes on School Premises

The Inclusion and Pupil Support document (2016) guidance-inclusion-and-pupil-support_0.pdf \(gov.wales\) provides a framework for inclusion, containing guidance for schools and local authorities (LAs). It requires schools to maintain high levels of attendance and positive behaviour, and to support learners with additional learning needs. Schools seek to avoid pupils becoming disengaged with education. It endorses the principle of inclusive education as enrolment of all children in mainstream schools unless there are compelling reasons for doing otherwise. Head teachers and other school staff have responsibility to deal with and record incidents involving children and young people on a school site in the first instance though it may be later decided that some cases amount to criminal conduct. If this is in fact the case, schools should inform the Police of the incident.

When 'exceptional circumstances' occur which lead to permanent exclusion as defined in: Part 1 of Welsh Government guidance 2019: Exclusion from Schools and Pupil Referral Units Exclusion from schools and pupil referral units \(gov.wales\) there would be a high expectation from the Police that they would be informed and involved.

The Association of Chief Police Officers, the Department for Education (DfE) in England and the Home Office have developed joint guidance to address concerns over the formal recording of crime by Police Officers on school premises. (Although the DfE have no powers in Wales, crime recording standards for both England and Wales are governed by the Home Office and as such this agreement applies for Wales.) The Home Office National Crime Recording Sub-Group (NCRS) has agreed the following.

Schools are under no legal obligation to report crimes to the Police. When Police Officers who work in or attend school premises, witness or have a crime reported to them, which took place on the school premises, the following will apply:

When are the Police duty bound to formally record and investigate an incident on school premises?

If any of the following criteria applies Officers must formally record and investigate an incident:

- The officer judges it to be a serious incident as defined below:
- A serious incident is one which has led or is intended to or is likely to or threatened to lead to serious harm or loss to any school child according to the view of the Police officer, child or young person, parent or guardian or the child's representative. Home Office Counting Rules for Recorded Crime \(publishing.service.gov.uk\)
- Possession of certain controlled substances such as – Cannabis, Ecstasy, Heroin, LSD, Cocaine, Crack Cocaine, etc. will always be regarded as 'serious' and recorded as a crime. An incident will always be deemed serious and recorded as a crime if the controlled substance has been or was intended to be supplied to any other person whether for gain or not.
- When the parents/carers are not happy for the school to deal with the incident.

Questioning of children and young people and formal Police investigations

Where there is a duty for Police to interview children or young people, then a parent/carer or other interview supporter will need to be involved. Sometimes, Police will contact a registered intermediary to assist with communication if they feel this is necessary to enable the child to understand the questions.'

When a school believes that a formal Police investigation may be necessary, then the questioning of young witnesses and possible offenders by school staff should be kept to a minimum. It should be enough only to establish the basic facts. Any further questioning could affect evidence and hamper a Police investigation (this can be further explained by the SPO if necessary).

Any questioning or interviewing of children and young people by the school should be recorded in writing and corroborated by another member of staff.

Where an allegation of child protection has been disclosed to a member of school staff, school safeguarding Policies must be implemented and local child protection procedures must be followed. Keeping Learners Safe (gov.wales) 2021 and Social care Wales (safeguarding.wales)

The SPO is available for schools to contact for advice. A Multi Agency Referral Form should be completed for any safeguarding concerns by the school or the SPO.

Points to consider

If the incident meets any of the criteria above, it must be classified as a crime and investigated. If, however, the incident does not fall under the above criteria the following points should be considered:

- Any safeguarding concerns
- Wishes of the victim (and parent/carer where appropriate)
- Wishes of the school
- Aggravating features - for example racial or homophobic bullying
- Severity of any injury sustained/nature of threat received by the victim
- Level/value of damage caused (It is impossible to quantify boundaries on the level of damage as this is subjective for each victim/complainant)
- Probability of a repeat incident
- Previous relationship between victim and offender
- Potential impact on the child/young person following formal Police involvement
- Effectiveness of Police action/court proceedings
- Future best interests of both parties
- Message sent to other children or young people
- Availability of alternative courses of action; examples might include restorative approaches, with the consent of the victim (see below), or the use of Acceptable Behaviour Contracts (a Home Office procedure used to deal with anti-social behaviour) etc.

Restorative Approaches

As a preventative measure, a restorative approach is focused upon reducing the number of young people entering the criminal justice system. With restorative approaches the whole school community and parents may be involved.

Police are determined to apply the principles of Child Centred Policing, CYP \(npcc.police.uk\) putting the rights of the child as central in any dealings with children and young people.

Schools Police Officers have been trained and are available to facilitate or support the restorative approach in school settings, when requested.

It is advised that officers liaise with their Force Crime Registrar for guidance on Outcomes that can be applied to crimes involving children to ensure consistency.

Youth Justice System (YJS):

In dealing with any offence committed by a young person under the age of 18, the police have a range of options. All the below can and are generally accompanied with assessment, support and diversionary activity:

No Further Action/Voluntary Interventions

The voluntary interventions are targeted for Anti-Social Behaviour work and/or for those who may be at risk of re-offending. The focus is to make good the harm caused and can involve direct or indirect reparation.

And when the threshold test/evidence test is not met...

Deferred prosecution – currently named a Second Chance disposal

The child / young person is afforded the opportunity to engage in a program of intervention and support, and providing this is completed, no further action will be recorded against them on local police systems and recorded / filed as filed as a diversionary, educational or intervention activity'. Second chance provides a less formal response to offending but provides the same level and type of intervention. It is classed as a deferred prosecution therefore if they do not engage there would be a consequence of either a caution or a referral to court if within statutory time limits.

Community resolution plus

This is also offered as an out of court disposal which is a non-statutory disposal that would include a programme of intervention however it is there is no separate penalty for failing/ refusing to comply.

Youth Caution

The Youth Caution is a formal out-of-court disposal

Participation in the diversionary intervention is voluntary and there is no separate penalty for failing to comply.

Youth Conditional Caution

The Youth Conditional Caution is a formal out-of-court disposal. Assessment and diversionary intervention are compulsory.

The young person must also agree to accept the Youth Conditional Caution, and any conditions attached.

Noncompliance of the diversionary or intervention programme results in the young person being summonsed to court for the original offence

Charge

The young person is charged to court or reported for summons.

Substance Misuse Incidents

The misuse of controlled drugs within a school is a serious issue and it is essential that the response is prompt and effective. In responding to incidents schools will be guided by:

CYP \(npcc.police.uk\) The principles of Child Centred Policing

The four Police forces fully support the advice and guidance contained in these documents. Additional recommendations and agreed working practices between the Welsh Police Forces and schools, regarding incidents of substance misuse also need to be considered. Advice states that schools should liaise closely with their local Police force to ensure that there is an agreed local policy for dealing with the range of illegal drug incidents, which might arise. The SPO will provide that link.

It is the responsibility of head teachers (as opposed to the Police) to decide whether to inform the LA of illegal drug incidents occurring within schools and whether to inform parents/carers and governors of substance misuse incidents. Although there is no statutory requirement to inform the Police, the Home Office would expect the Police to be informed when illegal drugs are found on a learner or on school premises. Drug possession including Cannabis is on the Home Office list of serious offences which would require police to deal with and record. Each police force asks that schools report all such incidents in line with established LA guidelines, even when schools intend to deal with the incident internally.

A multi-agency approach is needed, if strategies are to be successful, both in proactive (educational) as well as reactive (in response to specific incidents) terms.

The Three Tier Response

There are three main levels of response that the Police can provide when responding to incidents of substance misuse:

1. Collection and administration of any suspected substances
2. A partnership investigation
3. A formal Police investigation

1. Collection and Administration

Best practice suggests that suspected illegal substances, should wherever possible, be disposed of by the Police, who have clear policies and procedures for this purpose (Please see Appendix A for procedural guidelines). Prescription drugs can be returned to a pharmacy.

2. A Partnership Investigation

It is recommended that where either a suspected illegal substance has been found that can be connected to an individual or where the school believes someone is in possession of an illegal substance that the following apply:

- If staff have recovered the substance, then carry out the actions in point 1. above (Collection and Administration), regarding storage and collection by Police etc.
- Authorised named staff in the school have the authority to search, but If the Police are required, then schools should contact 101 the non-emergency police number. If staff suspect an individual is still in possession of a substance and refuses to co-operate, schools may need the Police to assist with a search. Named staff at the school have the authority to search, but if the Police are required, then schools should contact 101 the non-emergency Police number. The relevant SPO will be informed and updated as soon as possible.

When the Police are contacted, a decision needs to be made on how to deal with the incident. The SPO is there to assist and give advice. (It is to be noted that, drug possession including Cannabis is on the list of serious offences which would require police to deal with and record). Where the school and the Police decide that an incident may be dealt with internally by the school, then both parties need to consider alternative action and support for an individual e.g., pastoral support programmes, restorative approaches etc.

3. Police Investigation

This should be undertaken, preferably with the co-operation of the school. It is possible that Officers other than the SPO will carry out any formal investigation and be responsible for informing the school of available information e.g., as referred to in: 'Exclusion from Schools and Pupil Referral Units' (Part 5). Exclusion from schools and pupil referral units \(gov.wales\) However, the SPO will remain a contact point throughout the investigation, also able to advise and update the school about this process.

Searching Learners for Drugs or Stolen Articles

Without consent, authorised school staff can only carry out personal searches of learners, their clothing or their personal property in relation to searching for weapons and if they have reasonable suspicion that a weapon is being carried (they may however ask learners to turn out pockets, empty bags etc.). If efforts to persuade a learner to hand over a suspected illegal substance, stolen property etc. have failed, and the school wishes to proceed on formal lines, then the Police should be called to undertake the search. Schools may not detain a person without their consent for the purpose of a search for drugs or stolen goods. Police Officers however, may undertake limited personal searches on school premises or detain those suspected for the purposes of doing so.

School property, e.g., lockers or desks; may be searched by school staff, although prior permission should be sought. Schools will need to balance the likelihood that an offence has been committed against the risk of infringing the individual's privacy without just cause.

Please Note: Where no arrest has taken place, a Police officer may search individual children, where reasonable suspicion exists, for drugs or stolen property. In order to search personal school lockers, the permission of the Head teacher or an authorised person must be obtained. If consent is withheld, an officer may apply to a Magistrates' Court for a search warrant to enter the school and conduct the search.

The Violent Crime Reduction Act 2006

Searching or Screening Learners for Weapons

It is a criminal offence to carry a weapon in school. The Violent Crime Reduction Act 2006, (October 2010) provides the power, not duty, for head teachers and authorised trained staff to:

- Search learners suspected of carrying a weapon without consent or alternatively call the Police. Suspicion must be supported by intelligence or information. Searches can only be carried out in the presence of two staff members of the same sex as the learner. Staff can remove outer clothing and search pockets, but more intimate searches will require Police attendance.
- Schools can screen without suspicion any learner for a knife or other weapon to safeguard learners as part of their general behaviour policy.

IN ALL CASES

If the Head Teacher or authorised person considers the answer as YES to any of the questions below, then they should call 999 to obtain Police presence.

- Does the member of staff believe themselves or any other person to be at risk?
- Is there a threat of immediate use of violence?
- Are two same sex (as the learner) staff members unavailable to undertake a search?
- Has the learner fled the scene to resist the search?

Separate guidance for schools and local authorities on searching and screening learners for weapons is available on the Welsh Government's website. Safe and effective intervention – use of reasonable force and searching for weapons \(gov.wales\)

The Use of Reasonable Force

Although it is legally permissible for school staff to use reasonable force, it is advisable that when a learner is suspected of carrying a weapon and is likely to physically resist, the school staff should call the Police rather than using force to continue a search.

If an illegal knife or other weapon is seized from a learner the weapon must be handed over to the Police and a crime recorded.

Note: A weapon is defined as any article made or adapted to injure a person, or any article which is intended by the person for causing injury to another. This could include a knife, which is defined as any article that has a blade that is sharply pointed. This does not include a folded pocket-knife unless the blade exceeds 3 inches or is not readily folded at all times.

Guidance for schools and local authorities on physical intervention and the use of reasonable force is available on the Welsh Government's website. Safe and effective intervention – use of reasonable force and searching for weapons \(gov.wales\)

Confidentiality

When SPOs are contributing to lessons in schools, there will be obvious learning benefits from learners sharing their experiences, feelings and views, in a safe learning environment.

Learners will not actively be encouraged to disclose information and intelligence on local crime by Police Officers delivering lessons to schools. However, there may be occasions, when, because of the nature of the subject being discussed, learners disclose certain information.

When these circumstances occur, confidentiality will be maintained wherever possible, within the classroom. However, it must be understood that due to the nature of their responsibilities there may be times when the Police officer will have no choice but to take further action on information disclosed. In particular, when:

- Criminal offences are disclosed.
- Someone is in danger or at risk of personal harm.

In all cases such disclosures will be brought to the attention of the Designated Safeguarding Person (DSP) or Head teacher. Both the school and or the Police, will make the necessary disclosures to the appropriate authorities and partners through the submission of a Multi-Agency Referral Form (MARF).

Where disclosed incidents have occurred away from school premises and further action must be taken, the head teacher will be notified of the disclosure. Any further investigation by the Police will take place as necessary. Where appropriate, the school will be jointly involved in this process.

The Police Forces will not issue press releases regarding seizures of drugs on school premises, except in cases of concern for public safety or where investigation into serious offences may otherwise be jeopardised. Prior to any press release, a joint media response would be agreed by both the school and the Police.

Appendix A

Suggested Procedures for Substance Misuse Incidents

In conjunction with the SPO, it needs to be considered whether the school policy complies with the following to ensure that an offence of possession or supply is not being committed.

Drugs / Alcohol / Solvents found on school premises

Where a suspected substance is found or recovered within the confines of a school, the Police recommend the following:

- If someone is in possible danger or is likely to be at risk of harm - call 999.
- Ensure that the seizure is witnessed in corroboration with another member of staff.
- Store it in a suitable location pending Police arrival.
- Record all details of the incident, misuse or seizure.
- Contact the SPO for advice.
- Contact 101 to arrange Police attendance and to make arrangements for disposal.
- Staff should not attempt to analyse or taste any unidentified substance.

Teacher suspects a pupil of being under the influence of Drugs / Alcohol / Solvents

- Seek medical advice if necessary. It is important to know what the substance is if medical treatment is necessary.
- Is the learner legally entitled to be in possession of the drug / substance?
- Is the drug / substance suspected to be illegal and / or in breach of school discipline code? If so, Police advice should be sought, if necessary.
- Take possession and store securely.
- A search may be required. Staff members are permitted to search students' desks or lockers, belonging to the school, on suspicion of possession of illegal drugs (although prior permission should be sought). Staff should not physically search a learner or their personal belongings. Staff may however ask the learner to turn out their pockets or bags. If consent is refused, then the only option is for staff to call the Police to carry out the search. Any forced search by staff could be interpreted as an assault. The Police have powers of search relating to persons and premises and will be able to assist.
- Consider a Child Exploitation referral.
- Complete a safeguarding referral via a Multi Agency Referral Form (MARF).

A teacher has information that an offence or supply or sale of Alcohol / Cigarettes / Solvents / Illegal substances is taking place in the local area

In addition to the school policy, it is recommended that:

- The school should inform the SPO so that action can be taken to protect the children and young people in the vicinity of the school and to identify trends. In the case of suspected substance misuse, this should be done at the earliest available opportunity.

A learner discloses that:

- he or she is using Drugs / Alcohol / Solvents
- parents / carers / relatives are misusing / selling Drugs / Alcohol / Solvents
- friends are misusing / selling Drugs / Alcohol / Solvents
- Refer to the school policy.
- Contact the school SPO for guidance, advice or support. It should be remembered that total confidentiality might not be possible.
- Once a decision has been reached in consultation with the SPO, the course of action open to you has previously been outlined.

Appendix B

Examples Involving Confidentiality

The following are examples of procedures conducted by an SPO. It is important to remember that the officer clearly explains the classroom agreement which covers the issue of confidentiality at the commencement of every lesson.

During a lesson about theft, a youth discloses that his parents have a TV at home which they know to be stolen.

- The Officer would be duty bound to investigate this matter further.

During a lesson about theft, several pupils disclose that they have stolen things in the past.

- This information would probably remain within the classroom and be discussed accordingly depending on the value of the property and the time lapse since the occurrence. However, if the disclosure were of relevance to an ongoing investigation into a recorded crime, then the Officer might have to take further action.

During a lesson on substance misuse, a youth discloses that they have previously tried an illegal substance such as Cannabis.

- If there are no current safeguarding issues the Officer will look to honour confidentiality and the disclosure may be useful to class learning.

During a lesson on substance misuse, a youth names an individual who is supplying a controlled drug.

- The Officer would be duty bound to take further action on this information.

Joint Working Agreement Guidelines & Planning

To support best practice guidance, School PSE Coordinators are required to plan jointly with visitors to ensure the delivery of a well-planned coordinated programme. In each school both the PSE Coordinator and the School Community Police Officer (SPO) are required to complete a planning form together.

Delivery

The SPOs are able to provide sessions to raise awareness of substance misuse, safeguarding, social behaviour and community issues. Each lesson focuses on the legal and social aspects of the topic discussed and gives pupils opportunities to make positive choices. All information is accurate and up to date, age and ability appropriate and interactive. All lessons are delivered in a supportive manner and local and pupils are directed to relevant local and national support agencies and help lines.

Evaluation

Lesson observations are undertaken regularly by the NWP Regional Coordinators to ensure a high standard of professionalism. To ensure that children, young people and teaching staff have a voice in evaluating the Programme various evaluative feedback methods are used in a sample of schools. The methodology involves questionnaires, focus groups, and interviews with the PSE Coordinator and a member of the SMT.

Enhanced Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) Status

The SPOs' warrant card fully meets the requirement that all visitors to schools provide evidence of current, valid DBS status.

Guidance for Schools and Teaching Staff

The sessions delivered by SPOs support schools in delivering their PSE-related learning outcomes to pupils up to 16 years of age.

To ensure that these sessions are delivered in a safe, positive learning environment the following guidelines must be adhered to:

- A teacher must be present in the classroom at all times.

This enables teachers to be aware of the content that may lead to future discussions and questions from the pupils. This is also a necessary health and safety and insurance precaution.

- Teachers need to be aware that SPOs will not be able to fulfil requests that greatly reduce effective learning, e.g. working with more than one class per session.
- Classroom teachers need to be aware of the session topic and content, prior to the lesson. This can be achieved through discussion with the SPO, the School's PSE Coordinator and also by contacting the NWP regional coordinators.
- Classroom teachers need to inform the SPOs of any pupil with specific additional learning needs or any who may be vulnerable to the topic being delivered.
- Teachers need to be aware that throughout the SPO delivery, classroom management is the teacher's responsibility.
